NEW POSSESSIONS OF UNCLE SAM

DISCUSSION OF FOREIGN DEPENDENCIES AT SOCIAL UNION.

WAS AN INTERESTING MEETING

Many Facts Are Learned from Those Who Took Part in the Program Last Evening.

Our Foreign Dependencies were set before the members of the Social Union club last evening in very interesting fashion. The occasion was the fifth meeting of the organization. It was held in the auditorium of the Y. M. C. A. building, and was attended by nearly the full membership of the club.

The efforts of the Woman's Auxiliary in preparing for the meeting were highly appreciated. Supper was served by that organization shortly after six-fifteen o'clock. Six long tables were filled with the members of the club. Their enjoyment of the viands set before them was unmingled.

When the chairs were pushed back E. N. Butterfield, the leader of the evening's discussion, called the club to order. Nominations for a leader for next month's meeting were called for. A vote resulted in the choice of L. F. Wortendyke. The April meeting will be the last of the series. Janesville's Needs is the theme which will direct the addresses on the program.

A Good Age A. E. Matheson's subject with which the discussion of the Industrial and Commercial Conditions in Our Foreign Dependencies was opened, was the Political Outlook. He strongly emphasized the advantages of the present age. Men look back upon the "good old times," as better than the present. But they were not. The present are good times, although they are not old times. Never has the young man had the same opportunities as now. There are those who hold that the men who have become prominent in connection with the development of our foreign dependencies have been actuated by ulterior purposes, that Gov. Taft, for example, refused a seat on the supreme bench and remained in the Philippines in order that he might gain renown which will later help him toward the presidency. Mr. Matheson ridiculed the idea. He held that our representatives in our foreign holdings are influenced only by unselfish motives. So long as such motives rule, the United States has no need to fear for the future.

Philippine Shiftless Industrial Possibilities were outlined by Arthur M. Fisher. He took up Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines in turn. Both of the first two offer great opportunity for the investment of capital. The Philippines present a less promising future. Laziness is the dominant characteristic of the natives, which offers a serious obstacle to the industrial development of the land. In fertility of its land and natural resources the islands are very rich. American capital and skill are both needed, not only in the Philippines, but in Porto Rico and the Hawaiian Islands.

Wilson Lane gave a less cheerful view of the same question, his theme being the Commercial Possibilities of the Islands. In beginning he deplored the lack of accurate information on conditions in the Philippines, for example. The United States has been connected with the islands for so short a time that there is little opportunity to judge of their possibilities. The climate is so torrid that activity is practically impossible. The natives are lazy and so are white men after they have been there for a short time. Hawaii presents a greater opportunity for commercial development. Porto Rico, he believed, has already been developed as much as possible.

Young Man, Go West Morris Erickson was more hopeful in his view of the islands. He called to memory the time when the United States was a land wild and unpromising. A generation ago Horace Greeley gave his advice "Young man, go West." That advice is still good. Go West, to the islands in the midst of the sea. There are there unsurpassed opportunities for the young man who is inspired by motives of industry and push. In our dependencies there is no place for a man, who is content to spend his time in impotent ease, but the American young man of today, endowed with brains, grit and indomitable pluck there is an opening of unpassed promise.

Prof. G. M. Brace talked of the Young Man's Preparation for Life in the Philippines. After referring hopefully to the possibility of educating the Filipinos by agricultural colleges and manual training schools he took up the equipment needed for life in the Philippines. Knowledge of the Spanish language is not obligatory as the rising generation are learning the English tongue. Knowledge of applied science is a great asset. The young man must be a man of affairs, acquainted with the ways of commerce and trade, scientific and technical education, he said, is today the foundation of all material prosperity.

American Religion Needed What We Owe To Our Dependencies was the subject of Rev. R. M. Vaughan's remarks. We owe them, he said, the development of their industrial opportunities. The generous recommendations of the administration, especially in regard to reciprocity, should be carried out. Popular education should be given the islands. Uncle Sam's soldiers march with the rifle in one hand and the spelling book in the other. American Christianity should be furnished the islands, not Protestantism, necessarily, but with all honor to the Spanish missionaries, their influence is not what is needed. Republican institutions are also needed. Rev. Vaughan closed with a glowing tribute to the achievements of Governor Taft.

CALIFORNIA SEEN TO ADVANTAGE

Gazette Correspondent Tells of the Wisconsin People Who Are Wintering Out There.

Santa Ana, Cal.—The day set apart as Wisconsin Day among the residents of lower California as well as the tourist, who perchance is enjoying the delightful climate for a time is becoming more and more popular. A more interesting spot could not be found to hold such a picnic as "Long Beach" is fast becoming one of the most popular resorts in Southern California.

The Beach itself being fascinating, and the Bath house quite an attraction. The electric as well as the steam cars brought many visitors, during the morning. The trains were met by the Marine band, who played inspiring music, welcoming all. The morning was spent in interchange of greetings, and meeting new friends, wandering at will on the white sandy beach or watching the old Pacific advancing and retreating, ever in motion.

After the dinner hour, all repaired to the large pavilion, built at the waters edge, where each club and flow of the blue waters laps the immense pillars that support the structure. The platform was adorned with large numbers of calla lilies, roses, and hellebore, while over all, hung the Stars and Stripes. Speeches were made by Ex-Governor Keam, who paid a high tribute to John C. Spooner, and brought forth hearty applause. Gen. Hamilton Cobb, Bartlett Tripp, Mr. Mills, a former Beloit College student, Hon. Edgar Deming, who by way of contrast in the two states of Wisconsin and California, placed the apple by the side of the orange, the golden rod by the popples' side and the beautiful lakes which the former state abounds, by the Pacific, and the month of June as above par, for any month in California. Although all had only words of praise for the great state.

The address of the afternoon was given by Hon. Phil Noyes, of Janesville, Wis., who held the close attention of the assemblage, bringing out the thought of resistance being the moving power of progress.

Mr. Canouse was chairman of the meeting and kept all in a humorous frame of mind. The exercises closed by singing "Auld Lang Syne" in which all joined. Among the company we had the pleasure of meeting Mrs. Elizabeth Butler, Miss Lucinda Hoskins, Mr. and Mrs. James Lamb, Mr. Caldwell who have headquarters at Los Angeles. Capt. Norcross and wife, who have recently become residents of "Long Beach" having lately purchased a cottage near the ocean front, where we have had the pleasure of enjoying their hospitality repeatedly. Mr. and Mrs. Colby of Rock county and Attorney Steele and wife of Whitewater were also present.

Altogether the day was most delightfully spent, and expressions of satisfaction and pleasure were heard on all sides as the different trains bore the visitors away to their respective stopping places.

A few days ago we received a very pleasant call from Rev. W. H. Watton, a former rector of Trinity church in Janesville, Wis., who is now pastor of the Church of the Messiah, (Episcopal) here in Santa Ana.

Learning also that Dr. Kimball and wife resided here, he being an invalid I went to call on them and was so kindly received. Found the former not able to leave the bed, and no prospects of his ever being better. They made many inquiries after Janesville people. The delightful trip to "Catalina Island" is in prospect for the near future. A. E. I.

...Forty Years Ago...

Janesville Daily Gazette, Wednesday, March 4.—We have gratifying intelligence that Fort McAllister, near Savannah, has been taken by our iron clads.

The government at Washington has no account of a general engagement at Vicksburg, and the rumors of a bloody battle and repulse are doubtless untrue.

We captured two of Van Dorn's command. Van Dorn's headquarters are at Spring Hill, 13 miles south of Franklin. No fears are entertained for the safety of the place. The federal forces by

Plans for Chorus Mrs. Hyde's plan is to have a chorus of from forty to fifty voices. They will not only sing but they will study vocal music from the first rudiments, their work including the reading of music and the placing of the voice. One of the theories which Mrs. Hyde continually strives to emphasize in her teaching is that the child can sing as correctly and secure comparatively the same purity and quality of tone as the adult.

The chorus class will meet once each week for practice and if sufficient progress is made it is expected that the chorus will furnish a part of the vocal music for commencement.

Mrs. Hyde appears to be pleased with the material which the High school possesses and she confidently expects that by next June that the chorus will be a credit to the school.

Commencement Plans

Present indications are that the musical department of the High school will be well represented on the commencement program. The High school orchestra will take a prominent part as well as the chorus and the Senior class male quartet will also sing several selections.

A Studious Quartet

This quartet, which consists of Kramer Doty, first tenor; Harold Dearborn, second tenor; Laurence Doty, first bass, and John Harlow, second bass, is doing some excellent work. The young men are very much in earnest in their musical study and are faithful in their practice. They meet twice a week with Mrs. Hyde and are making splendid progress.

The orchestra also is composed of students who mean business and who have taken up their work together seriously. They meet every Tuesday afternoon, after school for practice and so interested the young musicians that the penalty for missing a certain number of rehearsals without a good excuse is rather a dead letter.

Is Outside Work

All of the time which Mrs. Hyde devotes to High school students must necessarily be outside of her regular school work. The time during school hours is entirely taken up with her work in the grades and she has taken upon herself extra work until she now has engagements for every afternoon after school.

Much Extra Work

In addition to the extra work with the High school pupils, she has various classes after school hours in the grades, so that every moment of each day is filled. Mrs. Hyde is an indefatigable worker and labors enthusiastically wherever she finds students who respond to her interest.

GRACE GEORGE AS PRETTY PEGGY

Her Charming Character Delineation Pleases an Enthusiastic Audience at Myers Grand.

Grace George scored a personal triumph at the Myers Grand last evening such as has fallen to the lot of no other star who has visited Janesville this season. With her delicious Irish brogue, her arch smiles, and her altogether lovable impersonation of Mistress Wollington—"Pretty Peggy"—nothing less than a heart of adamant could have resisted her charms.

In the Dublin circus, bewitchingly ly seated on a meek eyed donkey, the "impudent-faced Irish girl" won her first applause. That was only the beginning. Soothing the maternal wrath, confessing her love for "Davy" Garrick, presiding over her birthday banquet in the green room, at all of these she captured plaudits. When she sent Garrick in disgrace from her sight, his duplicitly proven, the echoes rang. Her success was complete. The curtain was bobbed up and down until the man at the windlass must have been ready to cry quits.

Structurally the play seems somewhat overloaded. It is carefully and minutely built—almost too minutely. The mass of incident and detail that is introduced is in part unnecessary. Yet it all served the very excellent purpose of producing the atmosphere of time and place. It would have been more satisfying if the curtain had not fallen without informing the audience whether Peggy married Garrick, forgot him, or passed from her swoon into death.

Annie Ward Tiffany was as delightful an Irish matron in Pretty Peggy as she has been in other ambitious productions. Donald MacLaren, a young Milwaukeean, is to be credited with a good presentation of Sir Charles Hanbury.

As Garrick Robert Loraine made a handsome but too nonchalant and unresponsive a lover.

As for the rest of the company, it was of goodly size, and would have nowhere occasioned violent criticism had it not been for the young man who played Captain Cholmondelay. His presence marred several effective scenes.

A novel feature of a production which was full of novelties was the riot scene in the fourth act when the Myers Grand auditorium was assumed to be the pit of the Royal Theatre. The sight of actors in paint and powder rushing down the aisle was so unexpected that the audience was still wondering what had happened when all was over, and the players back on the stage.

The busiest people in the opera house last night were the members of the small army that hustles the scenes, attends to the "props," regulates the lights, and performs the thousand and one functions required of them. W. A. Brady was given "Pretty Peggy," a gorgeous and elaborate stage setting such as is rare indeed.

MASK BALL WAS GREAT SUCCESS

GIVEN BY THE ODD FELLOW AND REBEKAH LODGES

FOR BENEFIT OF STATE HOME

Four Hundred Dancers Had a Merry Time at Assembly Hall, Tuesday Evening.

One of the few big successes of the year in the way of dancing parties took place at Assembly hall, on Tuesday evening. It was the joint masquerade ball given under the united auspices of Janesville City Lodge, No. 90, and Wisconsin Lodge, No. 14, Independent Order of Odd Fellows, together with Janesville Lodge, No. 171 and America Lodge No. 26, Daughters of Rebekah.

There was a large attendance, although the general indifference of the people toward social events this year had its effect on this party and the immense crowd which might have been expected from the records of former years was not present. Neither were there as many maskers as there have been at the Odd Fellow and Rebekah masquerades in years past.

Maskers and Spectators. Still, if comparisons with former years are forgotten, the party was a great success. There were one hundred maskers and between two and three times as many spectators. The majority of the maskers had contented themselves with any old kind of a costume which would serve as a disguise, so that the few on which some time and thought had been spent stood out quite conspicuously.

All Had Merry Time. Fun did not depend on elaborate costumes, however, and the merry maskers had the highest kind of a time from the moment when the strains of the first waltz sounded until the order to unmask came at the close of the grand march.

The grand march was called at 10:30 o'clock and it was an exceptionally good one for a masquerade. It was reviewed by J. R. Taylor, of Philadelphia, George H. Robinson and Fred J. Myhr serving as the committee of judges to award the cash prizes offered by the societies for the best and most comical costumes.

The Prize Winners. The first prizes were won by Mrs. Arnold H. Tift, who was fearfully and wonderfully arrayed as an old maid, and by David Brown, who impersonated a Scotch Highlander to perfection. The other prizes were won by Miss Elsie Fathers and Verne Carr, whose make-up as a couple of "Rubes" was excellent. Miss Father's entire costume was reminiscent of days long gone by, the carpet bag which she carried being fifty-two years old. After the awarding of the prizes the spectators joined with the maskers in the merry dance and the good time continued until the "Home, Sweet Home" waltz at one o'clock this morning. Johnny Smith's orchestra of six pieces furnished music that was simply irresistible and the floor was filled for every dance.

For Worthy Object. Additional interest was given to the dance from the fact that the party was given for an object in which all Odd Fellows are deeply interested. The proceeds are to go to the building fund for the erection of an addition to the state Odd Fellows' home at Green Bay.

The Committees. Carl Pabst was the general chairman of the committee of arrangements and the chairmen of the committees appointed from each lodge to form the general committee were Miss Ada Brandt, Miss Alma Ashbaugh, Arthur C. Jenkins and D. P. Blanchard.

The floor committee was an especially efficient one, those who served on it being James A. Fathers, Fred H. Koebelin, Willard Coleman, William Z. Winbiger and Harry P. Robinson.

A Layman's Lenten Sermon

Seventh day of Lent: Matthew XIII 44 v. Again, the kingdom of heaven is like unto the treasure hid in a field; which when a man hath found he hideth for joy thereof goeth and selleth all that he hath and buyeth that field.

Christ spoke to his hearers in parables. He told them the true idea of the Kingdom of Heaven and how precious it was in the sight of all in such plain language that even his hearers heard and understood. His teachings by the sea and in his travels are all full of just such parables and we can learn today a lesson from them just as Jesus meant for the people of centuries ago to learn. The Kingdom of Heaven is likened unto a treasure hid in a field which when found is hidden and the finder buys the field so that no one else may claim part of his happiness.

That very field exists today. That very treasure exists today and it can be found in the heart of every true Christian, safely locked in so that it may not escape. We are today living in the world of turmoil and strife. Our daily race to riches have dulled the ears of many to that small voice that would show them where the greatest treasure of all lies hidden within our own selves.

Is not this lenten time given to us to you busy man of the busy world and you, woman of society and card gatherings, is not this lenten time given to us all to stop and consider what a great portion of life we are missing in not finding that treasure that is like unto the Kingdom of Heaven?

We are continually striving for riches, for distinction for position, when within our own hearts is the acme of our desires. That great treasure like unto the Kingdom of Heaven.

A Just and Upright Judge

Up at Wausau at the sign of the Pine Tree, is printed one of the brightest and most interesting of monthly magazines, called the Philosopher. Van Vechten and Ellis the publishers spare no pains to make their monthly publication bright and interesting to its readers. In the February number they have depicted a court scene in the Janesville Municipal court that is well worth republishing. It follows:

A Matter of Opinion—Set Down For What It May Be Worth—A Just Judge and Upright.

Down at Janesville they have a new city hall, and an ingenious Municipal Judge, who is just as up-to-date as the building. Any man can administer the law. It takes a wise one to administer what isn't. Solomon did no better in the famous case of disputed maternity, than Judge Fifield did the other day in a plain case of disorderly conduct.

In Janesville boys are not materially different from boys anywhere else, although there seems to be a difference in judges. What Mulvaney inaptly mislabeled an unwashed limb of satan conceived the rather brilliant exploit of setting fire to some boxes in the sleigh of an inoffensive old man then in town, and proceeded to put his plan into execution. The police of Janesville are not possessed of that broad sense of humor which takes in such uproarious fun as this, and so they inconsiderately gathered the young lad into the bosom of his constitutional father, and presented him the next morning at the highly polished and elaborately ornate red oak bar where his honor Judge Fifield makes his diurnal assessments upon the excess of the previous days joys.

But, Judge Fifield is also a man and once a boy. It takes that combination to handle the juvenile problems that get into police court. Anybody can say "ten dollars and costs" I could do that myself. But it takes a judge who can remember that he was a boy and realize that he is a man, to touch the juvenile offender at the right spot. Judge Fifield saw that if he fined the boy the punishment would fall on his father—who was not within the jurisdiction of the judicial wrath. He also saw that to send the boy to jail would be bad for the boy and also bad for society. As he pondered over the grim bars of the steel locked jail, and the clogged cob-webs of judicial precedent faded away, and out of the dim vista of the past there rose an ancestral woodshed and the gentle swish of a paternal razor strap, and from a voice long stilled there came the firm but loving assurance, "my boy, I am doing this for your good." Who of us has not heard that voice—and doubted—at the time. But the Judge remembered the woodshed, and looking from that to the large gold seal on the official confirmation of his well earned honors, he could not but feel that the domestic razor strap as a factor in social development had fallen into undeserved disuse.

He fined the boy ten dollars and costs, which was ten more. Then he sent for the boys father, and suggested that in his judgment what the boy needed was a good, sound, old-fashioned thrashing, a real session in the woodshed or behind the barn, with none present to molest or make afraid. He intimated that, the court being opposed to excessive punishment, if it were brought to the judicial notice in a perfectly satisfactory manner that his paternal duty had been generously fulfilled, the twenty-dollar score then on the books would be marked off, and the state would be clear. The grateful parent saw no easier way to earn twenty dollars, the boy arose from his tribulations with a wholesome respect for Janesville Justice, and the judge went home feeling that a time honored institution had been restored to its lost place—and everybody was happy forever after.

Late Law Decisions

Contracts—Restraint of Trade

An agreement by a builder in building materials, on selling out the business, to refrain from engaging therein for a period of five years within a specified county, is valid and not in restraint of trade; the limitation as to time and the restriction as to place being reasonable. A further agreement by the dealer selling out to buy certain materials from the person to whom he sold his business for a period of five years, and from no one else, is valid for the same reason. 65 Northeastern Rep., 1057.

Telegrams—Mistake—Damages

In an action to recover for injuries sustained by the negligent failure of a telegraph company to deliver a message correctly, whereby a student in a normal school lost a position for which he was negotiating, it is said that a company was liable for damages occasioned by the loss of the position. A failure of the student to receive benefit from his normal course because of worry over the loss of the position was too remote to properly form an element in the recovery. 71 Southwestern Rep. (Texas, Judge Neill) 584.

Railroads—Child Riding Free

Where a small child rides in a train in charge of an older person, for whom fare has been paid, no fare having been paid for the child because not required in such cases by the custom of the railroad, the child is a passenger. But the fact that the child is carried 250 yards beyond the station, put off without any injury, and there is no malice or inhumanity on the railroad's part, will not entitle him to recover damages for sickness owing to his having fallen down in the mud and becoming wet and frightened while going from the train to the station. 71 Southwestern Rep. (Missouri, Judge Broadus) 534.

Sunday Laws—Violation—Injunction

Two justices of the supreme court of Michigan, in a case recently before them, wrote elaborate opinions defining under just what circumstances a man was justified in killing his neighbor's dog. The fact that a dog is a trespasser does not in itself justify one killing him, but there may be circumstances, in the light of the dog's habits and disposition that will justify it. That there is property in dogs for which the owner may recover in a proper case is conceded, but this does not authorize a party to keep a dog whose habits are bad and who kills and destroys his neighbor's domestic fowls. No statute is needed to justify the injured party in killing a dog of this character when he appears upon the premises, after notifying the owner of his depredations, and giving him ample time to take care of him. (Detroit Legal News, Feb. 21).

Weekly Grain Trade Talk

Chicago, Monday, March 2.—An old axiom that wheat bought about March 1 nearly always makes money before May, finds many believers in Board of Trade circles. There are some reasons why this can prove true this year. The bull features, however, are problematical, and may not materialize, while the bear features actually exist, and are plentiful, and on that account the bears have decidedly the better of the argument at the present time. Of course, a crop scare, and the bullish sentiment that prevails and would multiply, would carry any advance further and quicker than anything else, for it is a well known fact, the outside speculator will buy on that kind of news in preference to anything else. From the tone of the advices received last fall, pertaining to the prevalence of the Hessian fly at that time, we may expect to hear something of this sort in a few weeks, but everyone knows that a crop scare bulge seldom holds, and generally loses money for everyone in the end; however, while it lasts it can make a great deal if one is fortunate enough to be on the right side. In view of this possibility in the near future, it may be well to go slow selling wheat short, especially on the breaks. There are other factors which may give us another bulge in May wheat, the principal one being the scarcity of contract wheat, which has been the foundation for every advance since last September. The Northwestern situation is also very strong. As a rule the best posted people there are bearish, but they have not been bearish at any time on this crop, and the high premiums paid for cash wheat by Northwestern millers is an evidence they expect a scarcity before their next crop is harvested six months hence. Without a doubt, farm reserves in the Northwest are below the usual amount at this time of the year, but the next Government report, which will be published on March 10th, will give us information on this score. In Minneapolis there is about as much wheat as there was one year ago, but the mills there will grind every bushel of it, and will need more. In Duluth where stocks are usually liberal this time of year, awaiting the opening of navigation, there is now about 6,500,000 bu. less wheat than there was one year ago, which means exporters must look elsewhere, especially for Spring wheat, but if the export demand continues as light as it has been for the past two months, there will be more than enough to supply the demand. Estimates on this range from 15,000,000 bu. to 20,000,000 bu. which will soon begin to move, and will make up for the shortage in Duluth. I believe there is also a great deal of winter wheat left in farmers' hands, but the March Government report will settle this question. Argentina may be able to supply the foreign demand for some time to come, possibly until our winter wheat crop is harvested, only four months hence, but shipments from that country while large, are finding a ready market and being distributed more widely than usual. Stocks everywhere abroad are small, even Australia—which country is usually an exporter of wheat is importing and taking Argentine wheat, and it may be that we may be called upon to supply a larger quantity than is now indicated, or than we have to spare. In that case values will have to advance. The coming month may, however, decide what will be the tendency of this market and the price of wheat for some time to come, possibly for the next twelve months. Sentiment is a powerful market factor, for some time it has leaned to the bull side. Should there, however, be no crop scare, and indications point to a record breaking crop of winter wheat, then sentiment will quickly change and the course of values may be steadily downward.

SOCIAL UNION CLUB WILL NOT HAVE LADIES' NIGHT.

FAIR SEX DECIDES QUESTION

Several Important Matters of Business Voted on by the Woman's Auxiliary.

There will be no ladies' night at the closing feature of the year's work for the Social Union club. This was definitely settled yesterday afternoon when the woman's Auxiliary of the Y. M. C. A. voted down the proposition to serve double the number of suppers for the closing banquet of the club.

Many members of the Social Union club desired to follow the precedent established by the Twilight club by entertaining the ladies at the final meeting of the year. Discussion of the question resulted in the decision to present it to the Woman's Auxiliary, which serves the suppers for the monthly meeting of the club. If the ladies were willing to serve for the increased number which would be occasioned by ladies' night, the club would open its doors to the wives and the sweet hearts and hold one meeting in their honor.

Ladies Vote It Down
The subject was fully discussed at the regular meeting of the Woman's Auxiliary held at the association building yesterday afternoon and was finally decided in the negative. The principal reason for this decision was the fact that the majority of the ladies who serve the suppers are the wives of members of the club. As such they would be expected to be guests at the banquet and there would be no one left to serve unless an entire new corps of workers was secured.

Will Not Give Music
The Auxiliary also voted down a proposition to give "Queen Esther" with local singers under the professional direction of Prof. Oscar Gronseth, the ladies deciding that they had too much on their hands now to enter upon a new undertaking which would require so much time and work.

Banquet For Temperance Workers
The ladies voted in favor of serving the banquet for the temperance convention which is to be held at the Y. M. C. A. building on Tuesday, March 17. The banquet will be served at six o'clock.

LIMIT IS SET BY PIANISTS' CLUB

THE MEMBERSHIP HAS BEEN RESTRICTED TO FORTY.

LIST IS PRACTICALLY FILLED

Club Held an Interesting Meeting in Mrs. J. F. Sweeney's Music Parlor.

There is room for just one more member in the club of amateur pianists, which was recently organized in this city. So many applications for membership have been received that the club realized that the membership would soon be too large for the accommodations which are available and at last the meeting it was decided to restrict the membership.

Limit the Membership
Consequently it was voted to limit the student members as well as the active members to twenty. Several new student members were received, bringing the number up to nineteen and as there are now twenty active members, this leaves one possible vacancy for some student of piano music.

At the meeting, also, the student members voted to take an active part in the musical study although they will give no numbers on the programs. It was originally planned not to call on the student members for any regular work but they prefer to prepare for the study part of the meetings, the same as the active members.

Are Studying Seriously
The meetings of the club are held in Mrs. J. F. Sweeney's music parlor and the large room was crowded at this week's meeting. Mrs. Sweeney conducts the study which is being taken up very exhaustively and seriously. The club is now engaged in the study of early musical forms and preludes and figures were illustrated by this last program. Each member prepares on the subject and those who appear on the program preface their selection by a thorough description of it.

Splendid Program
The program was an especially interesting one and included several of Bach's compositions. Among them was "Prelude and Fugue in D" played by Miss May Treat, "Invention No. 8" by Miss Carrie Baldwin and "Minuet" by Chester Parish.

Miss Blanche Sweeney played Chopin's "Prelude No. 20" and Miss Tessie Gibbons interpreted "Tocata in E minor" by Raff. Mrs. Frank H. Echlin chose "Fugue" by Rheinberger as her selection and the interesting program concluded with Mendelssohn's "Prelude in E minor" by J. F. Edgerton, of Footville.

CHURCH INTERIOR IS MUCH IMPROVED

Ladies' Aid Society and Epworth League of First M. E. Church, Expend Money.

Quite extensive improvements have been made on the interior of the First M. E. church, recently, the improvements being confined largely to the Sunday school rooms. This has been entirely transformed, the walls and ceiling being redecorated and a handsome new carpet laid. Terra cotta was the color chosen for the tinting of the walls and the rooms look very fresh and attractive. The Ladies' Aid society is responsible for these improvements and this hard working society pays all the bills.

Members of the First M. E. church are also rejoicing over the fact that the Epworth League has undertaken the purchase of a piano. The church has long felt the need of a piano and this year the enterprising young people decided to present the church with the longed for musical instrument.

Eczema and all diseases of the skin cured.

Eczema, Erysipelas, Itching Piles, Tetter, Barber's Itch, Salt Rheum, Ring Worm and all diseases of the skin have positively been cured by the astonishingly effective new D. D. D. prescription.

If you have any affection of the skin you want to be rid of it. Don't think because you have failed to be cured by the countless blood remedies and skin preparations you have taken that you cannot be cured. The makers of these remedies have simply failed to understand the nature of skin diseases. They have worked on the theory that skin diseases are due to poisoned blood, when in reality all skin diseases are but the manifestation of the activity of a living foreign parasite, which can be quickly and easily cleared away.

Results count. We have made thousands of wretched people happy by clearing up their skins, once and for all, of disgusting irritating diseases.

See what a citizen of your own section says:

After having what I supposed was an incurable disease, being afflicted for twenty years with eczema on my hands, and having spent hundreds of dollars in doctors' bills I was persuaded to try the D. D. D. Remedy and in three weeks was completely cured. I believe that the D. D. D. Remedy is the only absolute cure for eczema to be found.

GERMAN ASSAULTS MONROE POLICY

SEES NO JUSTIFICATION IN IT

Declares the People of the United States Lack Greatness, Which He Sees Demonstrated in Their Upholding the Alleged False Doctrine.

Berlin, March 4.—The Monroe doctrine was ridiculed as an empty pretension of no stability whatever and the United States was described as a nation that had done nothing of importance toward the real civilization of the world, and in that respect not to be mentioned in the same breath with Italy and France, by Prof. Adolf Wagner, the professor of political economy in the University of Berlin.

The economist asserted that even the most pretentious rulers at the climax of power never ventured such unwarranted assertions of authority.

Other authorities were more conservative in their expressions of opinion, and felt less disposed to start a controversy.

Empty Pretension.

Prof. Wagner's declarations were provoked by two questions submitted, asking whether the Monroe doctrine was in a moral sense as binding as international law and what action seems dictated first in the interest of the German people, and then in the interest of the European nations.

He said at the outset: "The Monroe doctrine is an empty pretension behind which is neither energetic will nor actual power. Scarcely could such a doctrine be forced upon a conquered people after extraordinary victories.

People Not Great.

"No people and no great ruler ever proclaimed such a doctrine. Neither England, nor Russia, nor Napoleon, at the height of his power, ever made a similar pretension. But not even the United States' predominant interests are behind this unheard-of assumption. South America is neither geographically nor historically so allied with North America and the United States as to justify such a pretension, even from a North American standpoint."

Chief Seat of Civilization.

Answering the second question, Prof. Wagner says: "It is only the divisions of European politics and lack of insight into and recognition of the solidarity of the interests of middle, western, and southern Europe, which hitherto have been and will remain the chief seats of human civilization, that explains why Europe, why Germany even, takes this empty pretension into consideration, for every European country's practical, political course will naturally depend solely upon its interests and accordingly upon considerations of strength."

"Therefore any binding engagement in advance regarding this pretentious doctrine of union appears to be a wrong policy."

Lauds the Latins.

"What would our civilization be without Italy and without France? What do we Germans owe to them? They are as indispensable to us as the classic peoples were. No objective member of the Germanic race can wish to see the world exclusively Germanic, but if we once concede the United States predominance in South America, according to the Monroe pretensions, would German interests be promoted thereby? Would not we Germans be completely pressed to the walls by the English element on both sides of the sea? We really have no interest in furthering the preponderance of the United States or England or both. The world's civilization would hardly be advanced, thereby."

Calls for United Action.

"Aside from some technical and business spheres what has the United States done of importance for the real civilization of the world? What has it done that has deserved to be named in the same breath with the achievements of Italy and France?"

"Middle, western and southern Europeans, hold yourselves together against the East as well as the far West. That seems to me to be the only right answer to the Monroe pretensions. The Germanic people should not act against but should act with the domestic peoples. That would serve the true interests of the civilization of the world."

Mr. E. T. Fish, of 335 Racine St., proprietor of the Fish Dry Line, says: "When I was twenty years of age I fell injured my back, and ever since that I was troubled more or less with a dull aching pain across the loins. It never laid me up but it was often painful and annoying. Of late years I have gone to a physician every six months and, had myself thoroughly examined, and the impression that there might be something wrong with my kidneys. The diagnosis always resulting in the physician claiming these organs were so ill, but as the pains existed when I appeared to notice in our Janesville papers that Doan's Kidney Pills were guaranteed to cure just such troubles, I procured a box at the People's Drug Co.'s store, and took them. Doan's Kidney Pills are a good preparation. My back has not ached since I used them. I have heard others speak very complimentary of them and if I did not know their merit and required such a medicine I would consider it a favor if some one suggested their use to me. For this reason I endorse them."

Janesville Backs!

FEW are the people in Janesville who never have a bad back. Nearly everyone you know has "now and then" an aching back—some suffer severely from Backache pains, others have mild attacks that only harass, annoy and seem not serious. Many grievous mistakes are made through back neglect. Ever stop to think that there is reason for the weakness which causes every strain of the back—every cold—every exertion to bring backache pains? There will be less pain—less back trouble when 'tis understood the kidneys are to blame for it all, nine times out of ten. The kidneys' constant call for help comes through the back—kidneys are overworked and become easily disordered, unable to perform their proper functions, then it is the back warns you to assist nature and right the wrong that is going on in the system causing impure blood to circulate and breed disease.

DANGEROUS TRICK DUE TO IGNORANCE

Rowdies at the Opera House Throw Lighted Matches from the Gallery During Performance.

Rowdism on street corners cannot often be prevented and many a lady is subjected to the rude criticisms of a "gang" of young loafers who have nothing to do and know no better but who nit comes to rowdism in an opera house where ladies and gentlemen go to witness a performance it is carrying the matter too far.

Last night Miss George appeared at the Myers Grand in "Pretty Peggy" and throughout the whole performance the hoodlums in the gallery broke into the play from time to time with rude remarks and words of either praise or condemnation that spoiled parts that were beautiful. The climax was reached when during the dark scene in the last act, while a change of scenery was necessary, the miscreants in the top gallery lighted matches and threw the burning sticks in the balcony and into the pit of the house.

Not only was it annoying to the audience at large but it was dangerous to everyone. Had one of the matches caught in the dresses of the ladies a panic would have ensued and many might have been trampled in the rush for exit. Janesville has a police force that should watch for such things as these and should protect the taxpayers who attend the theatre. If not the proprietor of the theatre himself. There were policemen present last night but they did nothing to stop the annoyance except to rebuke the two men who were put out by the man employed by the theatre for that purpose.

Not only was the audience annoyed inside the theatre by the hoodlums but at the entrance in going in. Each show night a crowd of loafers congregated at the doors and not only jam the entrance but pass remarks on the ladies as they enter. This is within the police powers to stop and there are policemen enough in the city to do it.

Methodist Clergymen Propose to Decline the Business.

Lafayette, Ind., March 4.—The Methodist ministers of Indiana have taken the initiative in a movement which promises to be sweeping in its results. If the movement succeeds pastors of this denomination will absolutely refuse to perform marriage ceremonies if either party to the marriage has been divorced.

The matter will be brought to the attention of the several conferences, which will soon be in session, and there is every indication that the proposed radical departure will be adopted.

Methodist churchmen and laymen believe that such a measure would go far toward eradicating the divorce

Waukesha Freeman: The Milwaukee Free Press prints an appeal for the establishment of an art department at the state university at Madison.

Politics are evidently not as directly opposed to aesthetics as we had imagined. However, when another department is established at the university, it ought to be for domestic science, not for art. The regents, we understand, will make an appeal for the establishing of such a department soon, and we sincerely hope they will succeed. Every girl's education should include some foundation principles of the many trades necessary for the housekeeper.
